Experiencing the Treaty of 1855

For the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs—in relation to the United States and all other sovereign governments—the Treaty of 1855 is the foundation document.

The treaty is seen all around us: In the reservation itself, and with gathering, fishing and hunting rights on the Ceded Lands.

The binding legal aspects of the document are vital to this day, invoked in many tribal actions, both governmentally and by individual members. While vital and alive, the Treaty has an historical element, also endlessly fascinating:

Who signed the Treaty, and how? Where? And under what circumstances?... You can judge for yourself at the Museum at Warm Springs, as the tribes and museum this fall host the Treaty Conference (see page 5).

Six pages of the original Treaty will be on display at the Museum at Warm Springs from October 2 through November 3. This is the first of several exhibitions and public programs happening as the museum celebrates its Twenty-Fifth Anniversary.

For some broad historical context: In 1855 the President of the United States was Franklin Pierce, known for his inability to address slavery, leaving that to Abraham Lincoln.

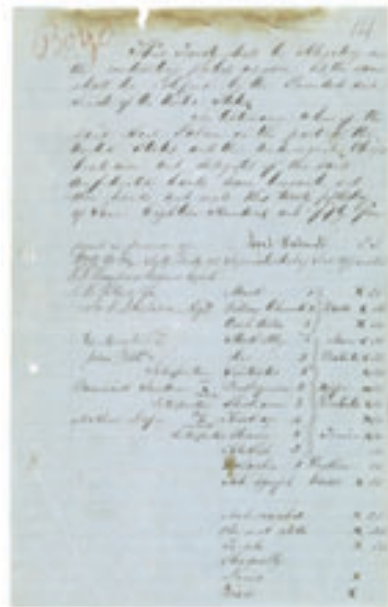

Meanwhile an issue in the Pacific Northwest was the growing wave of non-Indian settlers, bringing devastating illness, and land disputes. In the language of the day, the question for the U.S. government was, “How to deal with the Indian problem?”

Museum board names new executive director

The Museum at Warm Springs Board of Directors has appointed Elizabeth Woody as executive director. Ms. Woody will succeed Carol Leone, who has ably served the museum since 2002, and is retiring at the end of November.

Ms. Woody will begin her post on December 1. She has a long history with the Museum at Warm Springs, starting in 1993.

In that year Ms. Woody was one of the Warm Springs tribal citizens who accompanied a team of tribal museum professionals to Santa Fe, New Mexico.

In Santa Fe they met with renowned Chiricahua Apache artist, the late Allan Houser. This was still during the planning phase of the museum, which would open the following year.

Most recently, Ms. Woody has been serving as a project manager for the Museum at Warm Springs Twenty-Fifth Anniversary events, fundraising and as a development consultant.

Elizabeth Woody

Ms. Woody is a member of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs. She is of Yakama Nation descent, ‘born for’ the Tódich’iinii (Bitter Water clan) of the Navajo Nation.

Council posting budget proposal

Tribal Council this week is scheduled to post the proposed 2019 tribal budget. Council was scheduled to meet this Wednesday, September 26 on the matter.

The district meetings would follow in October, concluding with a General Council meeting.

The budget mailing to the membership will go out soon.

Tribal Management and Finance earlier this month presented a balanced budget proposal to Tribal Council. Branches, departments and enterprises gave their presentations, finishing up earlier this week.

Another item on the Tribal Council agenda this week was a meeting with the Kah-Nee-Ta Board of Directors, regarding a future course for the resort. For now there is only security and maintenance crews at Kah-Nee-Ta, though partnership-investor proposals may still be weighed in the future.

A meeting with the 509-J school district superintendent, and a casino equity agreement were also on this week’s Council agenda.

Native theme movies featured at film festival

The iconic film Smoke Signals was the first feature written, directed, co-produced and acted by American Indians.

Smoke Signals—with a visit from the actor Adam Beach—will be among the eight movies featured in October at the BendFilm screening at the Madras High School Performing Arts Center.

And along with Smoke Signals several of the films at the Performing Arts Center festival celebrate the Native American experience and culture.

“Smoke Signals was a groundbreaking film when it premiered at the Sundance Film Festival 20 years ago,” said Todd Looby, director of BendFilm. “And the timeless story still resonates strongly with independent film fans across the world.

“We look forward to hosting Adam Beach, and hearing him reflect on how the film has impacted his life and influenced his illustrious career.”

Mr. Beach will join audiences live for a question and answer discussion about the film, his acting career, and founding the Adam Beach Film Institute to mentor young Native American filmmakers.

The 2018 BendFilm festival at the Madras Performing Arts Center will be October 11-14. Here are summaries of the feature films coming up at the center:

The Blessing, directed by Hunter Robert Baker, Jordan Fein. A Central Oregon premiere.

The story: A Navajo coal miner raising his secretive daughter on his own struggles with his part in the irreversible destruction of their sacred mountain.

Dawnland, directed by Adam Mazo, Ben Pender-Cudlip. An Oregon premiere.

A story of stolen children and cultural survival: Inside the first truth and reconciliation commission for Native Americans.

Dirt McComber: Last of the Mohicans, directed by Joanne Storkan and Ryan White. West Coast premiere.

The story: In Kahnawake Mohawk Territory, rough-and-tumble Dirt McComber struggles to support his large modern family as the last member of his community to maintain a traditional Mohawk livelihood.

Celebration at SkiBowl

Miss Warm Springs 2018 Thyreicia Simtustus (left) arrives on horseback at SkiBowl West, where the Confederated Tribes and SkiBowl hosted the Eighth Annual Tribal Celebration Day, last weekend. The day included tribal dance performances.

Agency main water break disrupts service

Last week a 14-inch water main broke in the Agency service area.

Residences and offices experienced low pressure, and then no pressure for a couple of days.

Some tribal buildings on the campus were affected, as was the Community Center, in addition to the residences.

Temporary restroom facilities were used by some offices, as the Utilities crew worked to repair the break. By last Friday the situation was resolved.

“Thank you to the Public Utilities staff for your work in repairing the broken water main line,” said Alyssa Macy, chief operations officer.

2 Nammy nominations for Blue Flamez

Two years ago Scott ‘Blue Flamez’ Kalama became the first Warm Springs tribal member to win a Native American Music Award. The award was Best Music Video for Rez Life. After the 2016 recognition at the Nammys, Scott began work on his next album, Rez Star. He wanted to keep up the momentum in a very competitive field. Now, two years later Rez Star is nominated for two Nammys at the 2018 awards, coming up in October at Niagra Falls. The categories for Rez Star are Best Rap /Hip Hop Album, and Best Music Video Concept. The music video is To the Sky, filmed in Simnasho, directed by LaRonn Katchia and his associate Isaac Trimble. Scott was inspired to write To the Sky when he visited the No DAPLE Standing Rock protest, and other Native activist events. Scott is a Prevention Education consultant. He performs often around the region, such as the County and State fairs. He will also be at the upcoming Jim PepperFest in Portland. And has performed at reservations in the Mid West. Last year he accompanied James Greeley to the 2017 Nammys, where James won for Best Traditional Recording, Before America. Some of James’ flute work appears on Rez Star. Scott wishes to say: Please vote daily for Blue Flamez Rez Star and Blue Flamez To the Sky in the categories: Best Rap/HipHop Album and Best Music Video Concept!

AmeriCorps Vista member joins Action Team

Hello, My name is Mallory Smith. My father is Alvis Smith III, mother is Juanita White-Elk, and my extra loving parent is Vivian Smith. Being a part of the Confederate Tribes of Warm Springs, I hold a huge chunk of my heart to my home land. Growing up on Warm Springs Reservation I have experienced how poverty can affect us (my tribe) in many different ways, but I also see how it made us more of a community, especially in sports aspects. I have been living on and off in Portland for the past six years. I went to school at Portland Community College and became a preschool teacher at Small Wonders School. As much as I liked living in Portland, I always had a passion for my community and knew I wanted to one day give back to the community of Warm Springs. Not quite knowing where to start, I took a healthy risk and applied to a nonprofit organization for an AmeriCorps VISTA position, which is volunteer work that takes place all over the United States. As a new member of the AmeriCorps VISTA program and the newest member of Warm Springs Community Action Team, my primary focus is on economic opportunity. My goal is to promote community development in Warm Springs by building community and financial support for the Community Action Team (WSCAT) programs that facilitate entrepreneurship for low-income individuals in the Warm Springs Reservation. My job is to develop outreach, communication strategies, and partnerships to build a broad-based community support for the WSCAT programs, especially those relating to the youth. I will develop a plan to recruit low-income youth into WSCAT’s small business promotion programs and education IDAs (Individual Development Accounts). Working with the WSCAT family, I will also assist in the development of small business promotion projects, such as development of an artisans’ cooperative—Tanana’awit—the outdoor market, and a small business incubator. As a VISTA member, my objective is to help build financial support for WSCAT’s business programs that promote community and economic development on the Warm Springs Reservation. When my year of volunteer service is complete, I hope to continue to be an advocate for the Native American youth, so that they know that anything is possible! I am very grateful to be a part of the WSCAT family and also to be back in the community of Warm Springs. Thank you! I will be looking for your smiling facing around town. Mallory Smith

$1.1 million grant to tribes for public safety

The Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs will receive $1.1 million to improve public safety. The funding comes from the U.S. Department of Justice, as announced last week by U.S. Attorney Billy J. Williams. The award to the Confederated Tribes is in the amount of $1,191,523. The tribes will receive $754,568 from the Public Safety and Community Policing (COPS) program, and $436,955 from the Children’s Justice Act Partnerships for Indian Communities. Other recipients in Oregon include the Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fish Commission; Confederated Tribes of Coos, Lower Umpqua and Siuslaw Indians; Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation; Coquille Indian Tribe; Cowcreek Band of Umpqua Tribe of Indians; and Klamath Tribes. “These awards mark the Justice Department’s continued commitment to ensuring all tribes have the resources necessary to keep their communities safe and effectively enforce the administration of justice on tribal land,” Mr. Williams said. The grant to Warm Springs is part of a $113 million total to Northwest tribes to improve public safety, serve victims of crime, combat violence against women, and support youth programs in American Indian and Alaska Native communities, including. Nationwide, grants were awarded to 133 American Indian tribes, Alaska Native villages and other tribal designees through the Coordinated Tribal Assistance Solicitation, a streamlined application for tribal-specific grant programs. Of the $113 million to Northwest tribes, just over $53 million comes from the Office of Justice Programs, more than $35 million from the Office on Violence Against Women, and more than $24.7 million from the Office of Community Oriented Policing Services.

New focus at Warm Springs Telecom

Tim York is the new general manager at the Warm Springs Telecom, having started with the Telecom about a month ago.

An immediate goal, Mr. York said, is to greatly improve the speed of Internet service to Warm Springs residences. He’s thinking this can be done by the end of the year, and maybe sooner.

This one accomplishment

would be a great improvement for the Telecom, a first step in rebranding the enterprise, he said.

Mr. York has many years of experience in telecommunications, starting out in 1979; so he has seen first-hand the rapid and dramatic development of telecommunications over the past almost 40 years.

Mr. York is an engineer, now working with the Telecom team to bring the higher speed Internet to residential users. “We’re going to fix this,” he says.

Mr. York lives at Crooked River Ranch with wife Tammy, who has six horses, including a team of miniature horses.

The Warm Springs Telecom enterprise began in 2010, and has seven employees. The Telecom serves about 600 customers on the reservation.

Indian Head Casino events for Pinktober

Indian Head Casino and the Plateau Travel Plaza will host the Pinktober Celebration, including the Cancer Awareness Poker Walk.

The Walk will be at the Warm Springs Community Center from noon to 1 p.m. on Friday, October 12. Awards include gift certificates in the amounts of $100, $75, $50 and $25.

As part of the fundraiser, there will be Krispy Kreme Doughnuts for sale, $12 per dozen. The afternoon will include light snacks, Spin the Prize Wheel, a balloon release and health screening (in the Community Center social hall).

Some other Indian Head Casino events as part of Pinktober: Blackjack tournament, October 4 and 18 at 6 p.m. Slot tournaments on October 11 and 25 at 6 p.m.

Commercial salmon fishery through Friday

A fishery is open in Zone 6 from this Wednesday morning, September 26 through 6 p.m. this Friday, September 28.

Gear is set-and-drift gillnets with an 8-inch minimum mesh size restriction.

Allowable sales: Salmon (any species), steelhead, shad, yellow perch, bass, walleye, catfish and carp may be sold or retained for subsistence.

Fish landed during the open periods are allowed to be sold after the period concludes. Sturgeon may not be sold, but sturgeon from 38 to 54 inches fork length in the Bonneville Pool, and sturgeon from 43 to 54 inches fork length in The Dalles and John Day Pools, may be kept for subsistence purposes.

Closed areas: River mouth and dam closed areas applicable to gillnets in effect. The Spring Creek Hatchery will be reduced to 150 feet around the hatchery ladder.

For information other fisheries, please consult the tribal fishery departments directly, 541-553-2001.

If you have any fishing enforcement problems or need assistance or information, day or night, contact the Columbia River Inter-Tribal Fisheries Enforcement Office: 541-386-6363 or toll-free 800-487-FISH (3474).

Recovery Conference

The Recovery Never Ends Conference was moved to this Thursday through Saturday, September 27-29 at the HeHe Longhouse.

The conference opens Thursday with arrivals and set-up, and welcoming by conference emcee Aldo Garcia. Lunch is at noon, followed by the Blessing by Peggy Williams.

There will be spiritual presentations by local leaders, and a testimony from Linda Meanus, “Powwows, Recovery and Healing.”

The schedule for Friday includes a talk by Tribal Council Chairman Austin Greene Jr., and testimony from Romaine Miller. Oregon Recovers project coordinator Andrew Swanson will make a presentation before lunch, followed by grief presentations and gospel music. Later in the afternoon the schedule includes relationship presentations by Paul Jim, Greg Arquette and Milestones staff. And the Recovery Powwow is Friday evening.

Saturday morning the schedule begins with Sweathouse, men’s and women’s (if permitted). Following the opening prayer is testimony from David Northover. Hands Across the Bridge founder Patty Katz will present, before lunch and a final presentation.

All meals and snacks are provided by Warm Springs Behavioral Health, and Health and Human Services, with salmon donated by the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs.

For more information contact Sarah J. Frank at 541-553-3205; or on Facebook. Her email is: sarah.frank@wstribes.org

New moms

A baby shower for new moms with babies 1 to 3 months old will be at the Warm Springs Youth Center gym from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. this Friday, September 28.

There will be raffle prizes, giveaways, food, games, pampering services, gift bags and photos—all free for pregnant and new moms.

If you miss the community baby shower in Warm Springs, you can attend the shower at the Madras High School Performing Center on Saturday, September 29, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

There will also be show-ers in La Pine, Prineville, Bend and Redmond. For more information visit: deschutes.org / communitybabyshower

Indian Gathering

The Second Annual Indian Autumn Gathering is coming up in November at the Columbia Gorge Discovery Center at The Dalles.

The center is looking for tribal member vendors to participate. The gathering will be all day on November 10.

The Discovery Center hopes to include workshops, presenters, music, dancers and artisans, as well as a salmon lunch for purchase.

This will be a free admission day.

There is $500 reward. Call 406-309-0517.

Air Time Music

The Third Annual Air Time Music Festival will be on Friday and Saturday, October 5-6 in the Erickson Aircraft Collection Hangar.

It’s a family friendly event open to all ages featuring honky tonk, rag time, country, bluegrass, folk and jazz.

There will be jam sessions both days. Children 12 and under are free. The show starts at noon on October 5, and 1 p.m. on October 6.

Note to member voters

Warm Springs tribal member voters eligible to vote in the upcoming February 2019 election—regarding changing the enrollment process to use 1980 for a base census—have until September 30 to contact Vital Statistics with any change of address.

Call them at 541-553-3252.

Correction

A photograph caption in the previous Spilyay Tymoo, about the farewell event at Kah-Nee-Ta mis-identified one of the women in the photograph as Shirley Heath. Actually, the woman in the photo was Nola Queahpama.

The Spilyay apologizes for the error.

Fall begins

Last Saturday marked the first day of fall, the Autumnal equinox.

The Autumnal, or September equinox is the astronomical beginning of fall in the Northern Hemisphere and spring in the Southern Hemisphere.

The Old Farmer’s Almanac says that, “During the equinox, the sun crosses what we call the ‘celestial equator.’ Imagine the line that marks the equator on Earth extending up into the sky from north to south: During the equinox, the Earth’s hemispheres are receiving the sun’s rays equally.

This means that the amount of daytime and nighttime are about equal to each other.

A farewell to patients after 10 years

Dear Patients,

It is with mixed emotions that I announce my departure from the Warm Springs Health and Wellness Center, effective this Thursday, September 27.

It has been a great experience for me to be able to provide for your health care needs over the past 10 years. I have greatly valued our relationship and thank you for your kindness during my time serving in Warm Springs.

The Warm Springs Clinic anticipates the arrival of Dr. Capri

Dr. Christopher Keane

Fillmore, a board certified family practice physician, in November.

Dr. Fillmore comes to Warm Springs with many years of experience having worked with both the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) and Indian Health Service. She will be available to provide care to all my current patients. Of course, you may choose from among our other healthcare providers as well.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding this, please contact the clinic, 541-553-1996.

Best wishes for your future health.

Christopher Keane, M.D.

Cecil Howard Seyler ~ 1929-2018

Cecil Howard Seyler, member of the Confederated Tribes of the Colville Reservation, loving husband, father, and grandfather passed away peacefully on September 17, 2018 and is reunited with his beloved wife Aradonna (Aguilar) Seyler.

Cecil moved to Warm Springs, Oregon in 1950, shortly thereafter, met the love of his life Aradonna while playing basketball with friends on the campus. They fell in love, married on October 9, 1950, and shared 45 years together before Aradonna passed away on March 20, 1995.

Cecil was born on June 18, 1929 to Charles Sr. and Alice (Stensgar) Seyler in Inchelium, Washington.

Cecil served in the U.S. Army as a combat engineer during the Korean war in 1951 and was awarded the Korean Service Medal with two Bronze Service Stars. In addition, he received the United Nations Service Medal Army Occupation Medal of Japan. Cecil was honorably discharged in 1952.

Before working for and retiring from the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Cecil and Aradonna owned and operated two successful business in Warm Springs, the former Chevron (now Shell) service station and the Burger Inn. He was the BIA Facilities Manager and BIA Fire Chief.

Cecil was a devout Catholic, avid golfer, and ardent exerciser. After retirement from the BIA, he was known for his role as camp boss in Fire Management for well over two decades.

Cecil and Aradonna’s children included the late Myrna (Pete) Courtney, Janice (Terry) Clemmer, Carroll (Chuck [deceased])

Bankston, Nancy Seyler, Ann Seyler, and Dean (Debra) Seyler.

He is survived by five children, 14 grandchildren, 35 great-grandchildren, and four great-great grandchildren whom he loved dearly. He has one remaining sibling, Wilda (Ken) Watts and numerous nieces and nephews.

Cecil was preceded in death by Aradonna, his parents Charles and Alice, four brothers Glenn, Alvin, Charles Jr. and Reginald Seyler, daughter Myrna White Courtney, granddaughter Xan Clemmer Kali and grandson Shawn Courtney.

He loved and was respected by his children, grandchildren, great grandchildren. He cherished his friends, and never missed the opportunity to support his church community.

He will be remembered for his joking nature and laughter. His passion for a well-kept home and lush-green lawn cannot be overstated.

He will be dearly missed.

Ron Marshall Green ~ 1967-2018

Long-time Warm Springs resident Ron Marshall Green, 51, passed away peacefully in his home on September 6, 2018, at 3:27 p.m., surrounded by friends and family. Ron was diagnosed with liver failure in April of 2015.

Ron was born Christmas Eve 1967 in Fremont, California to Marshall McClune and Esther Leaf Green. Both preceded him in death, and he missed them dearly every day.

Many will remember Ron for his dedication to his job at Kah-Nee-Ta Resort, where he worked as long as his health would allow. He was also well-known for his enthusiasm in PartyLite Candles and his love for playing slots at the casino.

Declaring himself an orphan, he lived homeless in both Bend and Madras before being adopted by the Bobb Family in Warm Springs. He had no other immediate family.

Treaty: Original pages to be on display

Or stated another way: “The Indian problem,” says the tribes’ Louie Pitt, director of Governmental Affairs, “Is we are still here.”

June 25, 1855

The solution for the United States was a series of treaties with tribes throughout the region, including the Middle Bands of Oregon.

Regarding the Warm Springs confederation: The tribes held a General Council gathering, lasting several days, in June of 1855. Then on June 25 of that year—it was a Monday—tribal leaders met at the Treaty Oak with officials from the United States government.

On the tribal side were leaders from the Taih, Wyam, Tenino, and Dock-Spus Bands of the Walla-Walla; and the Dalles, Ki-Gal-Twal-La, and the Dog River Bands of the Wasco. Representing the United States was Joel Palmer, superintendent of Indian Affairs in the Oregon Territory.

At the Treaty Oak that Monday they signed the document: This involved the creation of the reservation, a tribally sovereign area of some 1,019 square miles; and removal to the reservation of many Indians from their Columbia River homeland. The treaty reserved the tribal fishing, hunting and gathering rights on the traditional ‘ceded’ lands—some 10 million-plus acres—which had always existed.

The Treaty Conference

People of the River, People of the Salmon: Then, Now and Tomorrow (Wana Tblama-Nusuxmi Tanánma: E-Wab'-Cha'-Nye), a Treaty Conference in celebration of the Museum at Warm Springs’ Twenty-Fifth Anniversary, will happen Friday through Sunday, October 25-27.

The Treaty Conference, hosted by the museum, will focus on the 1855 Treaty, plus the establishment of the museum in 1993.

The event will conclude with an honoring of ‘Living Treasures,’ Warm Springs tribal citizens whose knowledge and commitment to perpetuating the cultural and heritage leave a legacy for future generations.

The Middle Oregon Treaty of 1855 Display will be on view from October 2 through November 3 at the museum.

The exhibit will include six pages of the original Middle Oregon

Washat Service as Treaty arrives

Join the Museum at Warm Springs this Saturday, September 29 for one Seven, as the tribes welcome the Treaty of 1855. Treaty of 1855 that established the Warm Springs Reservation.

The Treaty pages, on loan from the National Archives, were selected by museum archivist Evaline Patt.

“In 1993 the Museum at Warm Springs opened its doors as a living repository and center to perpetuate the culture and heritage of the Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs,” said museum board president Douglas Goe.

“The Treaty Conference is an important Museum Twenty-Fifth Anniversary event that will educate the public about tribal history, culture and heritage, and the Treaty that established the Warm Springs Reservation.”

Conference speakers and distinguished invited guests will include:

Warm Springs tribal leaders; tribal leaders and dignitaries representing the Native nations of the Columbia River and Pacific Northwest; Oregon local and state government officials; U.S. congressional members of the Oregon delegation; and prominent Native American attorneys, scholars, educators and cultural leaders.

“ I did not grant the Indians anything. They possessed the right to fish for thousands of years. The Treaties of 1855 simply reserved to the Indians the rights which they already possessed. They traded title to most of the land in the Northwest in return of their fishing rights. The Tribes negotiated long and hard not to be dispossessed of those rights.”

The Treaty Conference will focus on the education of Warm Springs tribal children and citizens, as it pertains to their inheritance of Treaty right and responsibilities; a history of treaties and of Oregon tribes; informative panels for administrators of Oregon’s county and state governments and federal administrators of the Pacific Northwest region.

Additionally: To assist Oregon teachers and educators to understand treaties and the history of Oregon’s tribes for the mandate of teaching American Indian history in schools; and provide essential education for current and future Oregon citizens regarding tribal sovereignty and co-management of natural resources.

“Treaties are at the heart of indigenous governance, law and policy in the United States,” said Walter Echo-Hawk Sr. (Pawnee), Esq., who will be a main speaker at the Treaty Conference.

“So it is appropriate for this historic gathering at the Museum at Warm Springs to focus on those foundational documents made by our ancestors, often at great cost—including sacrifice on the field of battle—as expressions of the inherent sovereignty of each Indian Nation.”

Mr. Echo-Hawk says: “These solemn agreements among nations are foundational political charters, because they brought Indian Nations into the Republic as sovereign governments under the protection of the United States.

“As the ‘supreme law of the land’ right down to the present day, the words in treaties define the political relationship between Indigenous nations and the United States, and set forth an inalienable and indefeasible body of rights, relationships, and responsibilities to guide that government-to-government relationship.”

As the Supreme Court has stated, when referring to these treaties, ‘Great Nations, like great men, must keep their word’—“What could be a more important topic than treaties to guide our discussions today?” asks Mr. Echo-Hawk

The Treaty Conference will be open to the general public and, especially, to those interested in tribal affairs. Registration is required.

The Conference is free to Warm Springs tribal citizens but will be capped at 100 attendees with registration first come, first served.

Total conference attendance will be capped at 300 with registration first come, first served. The registration fee for all three days of the conference is $350 for non-tribal citizens (attendees). The registration fee includes meals. Lodging is not included in the fee.

Native youth justice matter at U.S. Senate committee

The Senate Committee on Indian Affairs this week held an oversight hearing on Native youth in the justice system.

The hearing was to address the findings of a new Government Accountability Office report, which found that more than 105,000 American Indian and Alaska Native youth were arrested between 2010 and 2016.

Native youth were subjected to harsher punishments in the federal Bureau of Prisons system, according to the data.

“Native American youth who were sentenced and confined by the federal justice system—in the Bureau of Prisons custody—had longer sentences compared to non-Native American youth from fiscal years 2010 through 2016,” the report says.

Oregon State University recognized for diversity

Oregon State University has received the 2018 Higher Education Excellence in Diversity Award from Insight Into Diversity magazine, the oldest and largest diversity-focused publication in higher education.

As a recipient of the annual HEED Award — a national honor recognizing U.S. colleges and universities that demonstrate an outstanding commitment to diversity and inclusion — Oregon State will be featured in the November 2018 issue of the magazine.

Oregon State has many diversity program, and seven independent cultural resource centers, with most buildings architecturally designed to reflect the culture they represent. These are the Native American Longhouse, the Centro Cultural Ce’sar Cha’vez, Asian & Pacific Cultural Center, the Lonnie B. Harris Black Cultural Center, the Ettihad Cultural Center, the Pride Center and the Women's Center.

A thank you from the Reservation Walkers

Courtesy Val Squiemphen

The Reservation Walkers, a participant in the Portland to Coast Relay, would like to thank everyone that assisted us in our journey from Portland to Seaside.

We could not have done it without the help of our sponsor Warm Springs Power & Water Enterprises, and our three volunteers: Wilma Alonso, Cecelia Andy and Samuel Coyle.

Your time and generosity is very much appreciated.

Our team members were Melissa Benson, Susan Jim, Jessi Hatlestad, Nicole Andy, Natalie Kirk, Rosanna Jackson, Marci Smith, Samantha Gomez, Victoria Katchia, Saphronia Coochise, Jullia Culpus and yours truly.

We finished the relay in 37 hours, 13 minutes 30 seconds, two hours ahead of schedule—Awesome!

We had some rookies this year who did an outstanding job. The veterans walkers were outstanding as usual too.

I think everyone of the walkers went above and beyond what they needed to.

All in all a great year! Everyone is looking forward to the challenge next year.

Bring on 2019!

Val Squiemphen, captain, Reservation Walkers.

Fisheries notes...

The states of Oregon and Washington last week implemented a rare closure of most of the Columbia River to salmon fishing.

This was largely the result of two combined factors: Bad weather and bad ocean conditions in 2015.

The poor runs may continue into 2019 as the 4-year-old fish—traditionally the largest percentage of any given run—start to return.

Salmon aren’t only struggling in the Columbia: Nationwide returns have been low. Elsewhere:

Canada and the states of Oregon, Alaska and Washington would all reduce their catch of fragile salmon species under the terms of an updated international agreement that, if approved, will spell out the next decade of cooperation between the U.S. and Canada to keep the migratory fish afloat in Pacific waters.

Members of the Pacific Salmon Commission recommended a conservation plan that stretches to 2028 after two years of intense negotiations involving fishermen, tribes on both sides of the border and state and federal officials. It must be approved by both the U.S. and Canadian governments.

One of the most significant parts of the new treaty is reductions in the allowed harvest of chinook salmon, and particularly of chinook populations that are listed under the U.S. Endangered Species Act, the Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife said.

A Public Safety Picnic

The Warm Springs Public Safety Branch hosted a Sunday picnic, including a barbecue, and sack races, and McGruff the Crime Dog and Sparky the Fire Dog.

Casting for NW Native American talent

Simon Max Hill Casting is looking for Northwest Native American talent for two upcoming projects. Here are some details about the projects, and how to submit to casting:

First Cow is set in 1820s Northwest, and has a number of roles portraying Chinook traders.

Lorelei is set in modern Oregon, and has a dozen or so roles that are open to all.

First Cow is a FilmScience production. FilmScience has has produced several features that have been nominated for six Independent Spirit Awards, and screened at festivals around the world.

First Cow synopsis: Cookie Figowitz is the hired cook for a group of rough men on a fur trapping expedition in the 1820s Oregon Territory. One night in the woods he meets King-Lu, a mysterious man fleeing from some vengeful Russians.

This is the story of their burgeoning friendship in the ever-changing Northwest landscape—and a get-rich-quick scheme involving the first cow in the territory.

Characters: Three lead roles are being cast locally: Illche, who is Chinook, wife of an important, prosperous Chinook trader.

Young Chinook trader: an inquisitive, watchful young man.

Chinook woman: A young woman who gets hit on by another Chinook trader, then negotiates a trade deal with him.

Note: All lines will be translated into Chinook Wawa for the shoot, and production will provide a dialect coach.

Lorelei project summary: Writer-director Sabrina Doyle is teaming up with producers Kevin Chinoy and Francesca Silvestri (The Florida Project) as well as Jennifer Radzikowski (Moonlight); and co-producer Lara Cuddy (The Benefits of Gusbandry).

Synopsis: A lonely ex-criminal, Wayland, meets an overworked single Mother, Dolores, whose dreams have always come second to her family. What follows is a starkly poetic mediation of love, regret and second chances as a new type of American family is forged.

Characters: There are roles for teenagers to the elderly available in this project. Simon Max Hill is casting about 20 day player roles, any of which could be cast locally.

How to submit for either project: Please fill out the form at:

submissions.smhcasting.com/projects/150/submissions/new

Casting is through October. Questions or problems submitting an application, please email: submissions@smhcasting.com can Book Award (1990), William Stafford Memorial Award for Poetry (1995) and was a finalist for the Oregon Book Awards (1995).

She has written three books of poetry. In 2016 Ms. Woody became the first Native American to be named Oregon’s Poet Laureate. In 2018 she received a National Artist Fellowship in Literature from the Native Arts and Cultures Foundation.

Ms. Woody has taught at the Institute of American Indian Arts and Portland State University. She is an alumna of the first Kellogg Foundation’s Fellowship through Americans for Indian Opportunity’s Ambassadors program.

She has led writing workshops, lectures and has served on multidisciplinary art fellowship jury panels for several foundations and arts organizations nationally. She is presently on the Board of Directors of Soapstone: Celebrating Women Writers, and Willamette University Advisory Council for Native Programs.

“On behalf of the Board of Directors of the Museum at Warm Springs, we are pleased to welcome Elizabeth Woody as executive director as we celebrate the Museum’s Twenty-Fifth Anniversary,” said Museum board president Douglas Goe.

“We are confident that Elizabeth’s familiarity with the museum and its current needs and goals, her strong fundraising and leadership skills, and her love of the history, arts and culture of the Warm Springs people will serve her extremely well in her post.”

BendFilm: Festival at Performing Arts Center

Smoke Signals, directed Chris Eyre. Twentieth Anniversary.

The story: Though Victor and Thomas have lived their entire young lives in the same tiny town, they couldn’t have less in common. But when Victor is urgently called away, it’s Thomas who comes up with the money to pay for his trip. Starring Adam Beach (Suicide Squad, Wind Talkers), Evan Adams, and Irene Bedard.

Join Us, director and writer, Ondi Timoner.

Four families leave an abusive church in South Carolina and realize they have been in a cult. The film documents them as they enter the only accredited, live-in cult treatment facility in the world, where they learn the true extent of the brainwashing they have all experienced.

The Last Hot Lick, directed by Mahalia Cohen. Central Oregon premiere.

Jack is a washed-up musician on a never-ending tour, desperate to recapture the fleeting fame he experienced in the 1970s. When he meets a mysterious woman, he believes her beautiful voice is the key to his success; but she has a secret that could threaten Jack’s plan.

White Tide: The Legend of Culebra, directed by Theo Love. Oregon premiere.

Rodney is an American dreamer, but when the great recession wipes out his construction business, his family faces a nightmare of debt. One evening around a campfire, he hears a story from an old, bare-footed hippy that just might solve his family’s problems. There’s an island. There’s a map. And there’s buried treasure...

You Can Choose Your Family, directed by Miranda Bailey. Oregon premiere.

A normal father’s family life is turned upside down when his son discovers he has another family. Starring comedian Jim Gaffigan, Anna Gunn (Breaking Bad), Alex Karpovsky (Girls), Samantha Mathis (Pump Up the Volume).

The festival schedule for Madras screenings is online at BendFilm.org

All access wristbands for the Madras shows are available for purchase now for $25, and individual tickets are available at $5.

“Madras Performing Arts Center is honored to once again be part of the BendFilm Festival, and to help them celebrate 15 years of independent cinema,” said Shannan Ahern, director Performing Arts Center director.

“The eight feature films set to screen in Madras showcase a wide range of styles and stories and there is truly something for everyone in the line up,” Mrs. Ahern said.

In all, the 2018 BendFilm Festival will screen 44 feature films, 47 short films and award over $10,000 in prizes directly to independent filmmakers.

This year in celebration of BendFilm’s Fifteenth Anniversary, audiences can look forward to a range of other programs and entertainment including panel discussions, interactive movie experiences, spontaneous performances, street theater, music and virtual reality.

The Bend Film Festival is supported in part by a grant from the Bend Cultural Tourism Fund, the Collins Foundation, Oregon Cultural Trust, the Roundhouse Foundation, Oregon Community Foundation, and the Deschutes Cultural Coalition.

In-person Hopi Women’s Show at Sisters’ gallery

Sonwai, Pesavensi and Dorothy Ami will be in Sisters this Friday through Sunday, September 28-30. Jewelers, painters and potters, these women span the artistic culture of the matriarchal Hopi society.

The Hopi tribe has a highly refined society that goes back over 1,000 years upon their traditional homelands—three great ‘Island-in-the-Sky’ mesas in Northeastern Arizona. Anthropologists have often compared them to Tibetan Buddhists; other Native American tribes attest to their consummate spiritualism Sonwai spent 25 years apprenticing under her uncle, Charles Loloma, considered the greatest Native American jeweler ever.

She is widely regarded as the great Hopi jeweler of today, and one of the finest jewelers in the United States.

Pesavensi began painting after retiring from a career working for the Hopi tribe. Her works are composed of locally collected earthen pigments, ground by hand, and the works honor the mysticism of her people.

Dorothy Ami learned to craft award winning pottery from her uncle, the celebrated Mark Tahbo. These traditional pots are still hand made, fired, and painted as they were centuries ago.

Sonwai and Pesavensi are from Third Mesa, while Dorothy is from First Mesa. This will be the first visit for any of them to the Pacific Northwest.

The only other time their works can be seen together is during the annual Native American art shows—the Santa Fe Indian Market, the third weekend of August, or the Heard Museum Show in Painting by Pesavensi; and jewelry by Sonwai; and pottery by Dorothy.

Phoenix, first weekend of March.

The artist reception in Sisters is this Friday, September 28 from 4–7 p.m.

An open forum, question and answer discussion will take place

Saturday afternoon from 1:30 to 2:30. Sunday, hours are 11 a.m.–4 p.m. This show will be offered at Raven Makes Gallery, 182 E Hood Avenue, Sisters.

Hunting rights case at Supreme Court

It has been four years since Clayvin Herrera, a game warden for the Crow Tribe of Montana, along with several other tribal members, crossed a fence line into Wyoming, leaving the Crow Reservation, in pursuit of elk.

Although none of the hunters had a license to hunt in Wyoming, and the state's elk hunting season was closed, three bull elk were shot, and the meat hauled back across the border onto the Crow Reservation.

Subsequently, pictures posted on Facebook, and DNA tests conducted against the Wyoming elk herd, after investigators confiscated one of the elk heads from Herrera, compelled Wyoming to charge Herrera with two hunting misdemeanors under their state law. Found guilty in 2016 by the Sheridan circuit court, Herrera was ordered to pay $8,080, received a suspended jail sentence and had his hunting privileges suspended for three years.

Herrera's pro bono defense team was never allowed to argue 1868 treaty stipulations permitting him to hunt off reservation, and across state lines, meaning he cannot, as a tribal member, have any hunting "privileges," but has treaty-established hunting rights. These treaty-established rights are compensation for lands and resources taken from the Crow people, not privileges awarded to a Wyoming state resident.

The case was appealed through state courts, and lost on appeal, based on the rulings of an earlier 1995 case, Crow Tribe of Indians v Repsis, which held that the creation of Wyoming and the Bighorn National Forest, abrogated treaty stipulated hunting rights "on the unoccupied lands of the United States," because these creations constituted occupation.

Last January, the Supreme Court issued a call for views of the solicitor general, object being to find out what the federal government thinks of the case. In response the Department of Justice brief supports the tribal hunting rights, asserting Wyoming was in the wrong.
